7 Covenants of Virtuous Philanthropy

Synergy among the seven covenants creates the full spectrum of women's philanthropic footprint.

A voluntary philanthropist is one who, empowered by the Three Principles of Abundance, lives a life harmonious with the seven covenants in reasonable and caring ways appropriate to her hopes, dreams and desires for the greater good of all humanity.

-  1. Courage for a virtuous philanthropist is the ability to sustain the steadfast pursuit on one's convictions and beliefs in the face of skepticism or discouragement.
-  2. Justice for a virtuous philanthropist is the ability to respect and treat other people as moral equals, particularly when there is inequity of power or opportunity.
-  3. Prudence for a virtuous philanthropist is the ability to judge wisely and objectively in all matters pertaining to time, talent and treasure.
-  4. Temperance for a virtuous philanthropist is the ability to exhibit a discipline in all matters so as to avoid extreme or harmful thought or action.
-  5. Faith for a virtuous philanthropist is the ability to trust in the expectation of right and proper being accomplished without prior proof required.
-  6. Hope for a virtuous philanthropist is the ability to accept risk with reasonable optimism for good to be achievable.
-  7. Love for a virtuous philanthropist is the ability to act beneficently and rejoice in the happiness of others.
